

I am writing in support of SB-4. Increasing access to e-bikes, in addition to electric vehicles, will help us respond to the climate emergency we are now facing. E-bikes are far more efficient and by raising the price allowed, people can buy electric cargo bikes, which will go that much further to replacing automobiles. I currently live in a single car household and it can be difficult, and I think that an e-cargo-bike would be very helpful in this regard, not only for myself, but for many others. I also think these bicycles can replace cars, or offer a much greater mobility and independence for people who rely solely on public transit, which can be very limiting.
